The cotton beauty was in Greensboro Monday of last week as guest of the local Rotarians. She emphasized the Cotton Festival to be held in her hometown, Clayton, tomorrow.

70 Cone Employees At Safety Meeting

On Thursday night, September 15, 70 Cone employees travelled to Asheboro to see Mrs. Becky Siddon present a safety quiz program and demonstration. Mrs. Siddon, an employee of Reynolds Tobacco Company in Winston-Salem, acted as mistress of ceremonies. The program which included the acting out of unsafe practices and concluded with some musical "reminders".

A contest conducted in connection with the program was won by Leo Redmond, personnel assistant at Print Works Plant of Cone Mills Corporation. Mr. Redmond won prizes of hosiery and a flashlight for earning the most points for correct answers to the various scenes, questions, and musical selections.

Drawings were held for door prizes which included a clock radio. William H. Ritter, overseer of Dyeing at the Granite Plant of Cone Mills Corporation won the radio.

The occasion for the meeting was the third quarterly meeting of the Central Piedmont Safety Council, an industrial safety organization in which Cone Mills Corporation plays an active part. A rather small crowd of about 200 persons attended the Asheboro meeting.

Wilford Jones, safety director for R. J. Reynolds Company, planned and sponsored the program, using Reynolds employees to carry it out. Wallace Bourne, of Cone Mills Corporation, presided.

Cone employees who attended are:

REVOLUTION: Dorothy Jones, First Aid Nurse, Marie Goforth, Dorcas Smith, Dorothy Crowder, Thelma Strickland, Mildred Brady, Curtis Gaulden, Harry Stutts, Walter Helms, Aldrow Blackwood.

POWER PLANT—Charles D. Kerchner, W. B. Burke, C. H. Satterfield, Grady Haithcock, Robert Tucker, Raymond Shepherd.

PROXIMITY PLANT: John Scott, Raymond Kincaid, Foster Carter,

Sydney Cone Introduces Managers at Union, S.C.

The four members of the managerial staff of Cone Mills Corporation's new Carlisle Plant, to be erected near Carlisle, and Union, S. C., were introduced by Vice President Sydney M. Cone, Jr. at the Tuesday luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club in Union.

They are Marshall Gardner, assistant vice president of Cone Mills Corporation, who will head the new finishing plant; R. R. King, III, who will be its manager; Gordie Boyd, who will be production manager, and Burton G. Campbell, to be resident manager.

In introducing these men, Mr. Cone stated that they are starting off in debt for the plant and the land, and that although the company has developed a good finishing plant on paper, it is their responsibility to translate this into a successful operation with the cooperation of the community and Cone Mills. As the company's 21st plant, the Carlisle Plant will have to operate as a success and give stockholders returns on their investments before the community can benefit, he told them.

Mr. Cone reports that each of the new managers was agreeably surprised to find that Union is such a clean, bustling community.

Mr. Gardner, as was announced last week, will continue to head Print Works Plant here. A native of Greensboro, he holds a B.S. degree in chemistry and textiles from N. C. State College, Raleigh. He has held various jobs at Print Works since 1935. He is a member of the American Association of Textile Colorists and Chemists and is a deacon at Buffalo Presbyterian Church.

Mr. King is a graduate of Woodberry Forest Preparatory School and attended Princeton University for two years. He served as captain in the Air Corps in India during World War II. Mr. King is an associate member of the American Association of Textile Colorists and Chemists and a member of the Society for the Advancement of Management. He is at present assistant manager of Granite Plant, Haw River.

Mr. Boyd is now superintendent at Print Works and has been with Cone Mills for 24 years.

Mr. Campbell who has been recently in production scheduling at Print Works has been with the company since 1928.

Local Citizens Tell What Cone YMCA Means To Them

Last Saturday night saw a program unique in the beginning of a Cone Memorial YMCA Membership Drive. Several leading citizens of the local community who received their early training at Cone Memorial YMCA and who are still benefiting from its program spoke in behalf of the current membership drive. Each speaker stressed the importance of the YMCA to the young people in formation of strong character and bodies. All recognized the fact that the Y's work supplemented that of the home, church and school. W. O. Leonard, Jr. presided.

Speakers were Mrs. Lloyd Robinson, Jack Hughes, Wade Jenkins, Herbert Hayes, Raymond Kincaid, and Cecil Elmore. Vice presidents of Cone Mills Cororation Sydney M. Cone, Jr. and Marion W. Heiss and Assistant Vice President Edwin Holt, who are honorary chairmen of the drive, gave a word of greeting and best wishes in the campaign.

Gustav Ziprik, membership secretary of the local YMCA, explained the work of the campaigners and distributed kits of membership cards.

Speaking as housewife and mother of five, Mrs. Robinson stressed the importance of the Y in teaching her children to swim and giving the whole family an enjoyable night each week in family swim night.

She also pointed out that her children have gained much from the program at Camp Herman Recreation Center. She herself is an active member of the Matrons' Club and of one of the local Community Clubs which is for performing service to the community and to those in need.

Mrs. Robinson, whose Y dues are only $2.00 a year and her husband, whose dues are $3.00 a year, find that the total of $5.00 annually is very little for the fun, relaxation and fellowship their entire family of seven derives from the YMCA.

Mr. Hughes stressed what the Y had done for him in supplementing his home-life, school-life and

Symphony Society Invites Memberships

Membership drive for the Greensboro-Guilford County Chapter of the North Carolina Symphony Society will begin on September 26 and will continue for a 14-day period until October 10.

There will be four concerts given in Greensboro this season by the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra, three of them free concerts for children and one evening concert for adults.

Last season approximately 190,000 North Carolinians heard great music performed by their own state symphony under direction of Dr. Benjamin Swalin.

Last season the orchestra traveled 6,200 miles to present 107 concerts.

No other orchestra in the country offers so many free concerts to children along with instruction on how to distinguish one instrument from another.

Memberships include; general, $3.00; joint, (for two at the same address), $5.00; active, $10; donor, $25.00; patron, $100, and student, $1.00. A group plan beginning at $25.00 offers memberships to clubs and business firms.

Kenneth F. Bevan, Jr., is president of the local chapter with Mrs. Rachel L. Graves serving as membership chairman.

Who is wise? He that learns from everyone. Who is powerful? He that governs his passions. Who is rich? He that is content.—Benjamin Franklin.

Legion Post Plans Halloween Festival

Cone Post 386, American Legion, will have a Halloween Festival on October 29 in the grove near the White Oak Plant office. Plans were discussed at the September 9 meeting with E. H. Bateman presiding.

Festivities will begin at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, October 29. If enough interest is shown, there may be a spook and Goblin Parade.

There will be a fish pond with lots of good prizes, a concession stand serving hot dogs and cold drinks, a spook house with plenty of thrills and chills and a merry-go-round and many other outstanding attractions.

The following committees have been appointed for this event open to the public: fish pond, Norman Pinkelton and James Weaver; concession stand, Joe Odell, Alton Wyrick and John Lancaster; spook house, Arthur Stanly, Henry Stanly and Russell Pinkelton; merry-go-round, Billy Parsons and Harold Bateman.

Next meeting of Cone Post will be on September 29 in the Legion Hall at 7:30 p.m.

Red Cross Annual Meeting Today

The 38th Annual Meeting of the membership of the Greensboro Red Cross Chapter will be held this afternoon, September 23, according to an announcement made by George W. Bradham, chairman of the local chapter. The meeting will convene at 4 p.m., in Room 112, of the First Baptist Church (West Entrance, Madison Avenue.

Theme of the program will be "You Were There" which will cover the services accomplished by the Greensboro Chapter during the fiscal year 1954-55.

Bradham will preside at the meeting. Mrs. C. Henry Sikes is chairman of the arrangements committee and J. Mack Fullton is chairman of the Nominating Committee, which will present a slate for election of Board of Directors for the coming year.

Anyone who has contributed $1.00 or more to the Red Cross during the past year is invited to attend the meeting and learn how their contributions have helped in this community and throughout the world through Red Cross.

White Oak Matrons Plan Fall Activities

Mrs. H. M. Angel is a new member of White Oak Matrons Club which met last Wednesday in the Ladies Social Room of Proximity YMCA.

The club had an open discussion and planned activities for their Fall and Winter meetings.

In October they plan a hat show.

Mrs. Margaret Hayes had the devotional at the Wednesday luncheon meeting.

White Oak Club Has Hat Fashion Show

A hat show was the program for White Oak Community Club's first meeting at Proximity YMCA building. Mrs. Herman Lewey and Mrs. Webster Owen brought hats from a local department store in which they are employed and had club members model them.

Mrs. Lloyd Robinson presided over the business meeting. The club will have a covered dish supper on October 17 at Proximity YMCA.

Club To Have Covered Dish Supper

Proximity-Print Works Community Club will have a covered dish supper on the lawn of the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Angel Tuesday night, September 27 at 6 p.m.

The president, Miss Phoebe Richards, will appoint the nominating committee for the new slate of officers.

Cone YMCA Gives Description Of Work

Many people wonder what goes on behind the curtain in the operation of a YMCA. The following are a few highlights describing the Association and its activities.

The Executive Office: This is the nerve center, or clearing house for the Association's operation, including administration and all administrative policies under a constitution and by-laws, having a board of directors, with 21 members, meeting monthly; personnel, bookkeeping, payroll, communications, working with Cone Mills, Interstate Office in Charlotte, and the National Office in New York; accepting and making reservations for parties and the Recreation Center at Camp Herman.

Housekeeping: This is no small chore for a staff of three janitors, keeping the building clean from 7 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., with hours staggered for maximum of coverage, six days a week.

Food Services: The Food Services have been curtailed somewhat, with the decreased staff, but they still serve its constituent groups luncheons, dinners, banquets. This covers religious, educational, social and civic groups within the YMCA. They don't earn any money on food services, but are expected to break even. It is necessary to keep a chef, and some one who knows how to plan, prepare and serve wholesome food.

The Lobby and Main Desk: This is the information center in answering all inquiries about every phase

Inter-State Sec'y. To Address Group

George Simmons, inter-state secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association for North and South Carolina, will be guest speaker for Cone Memorial YMCA's Victory Dinner. The dinner to be at Proximity, Saturday, October 1, at 6:30 p.m. will honor the volunteer workers in the current membership campaign.

Special prizes are in store for those securing the largest number of memberships, according to Gustav Ziprik, membership secretary.

The Argentina Plight

Argentina is learning that dictatorship, even when it is accepted on the basis of being to the theoretical advantage of the people of a nation, will in the end not work out.

It has been amazing that the deposed or resigned former President Juan Peron has been able to continue as an autocratic dictator for such a long time.

Even now that Peron has been forced to resign we doubt that anyone in Argentina will feel that the country is free of dictatorial powers. The chances are that the anti-Peron power group will set up another dictatorship in that country and real freedom will be no more existent in the near future than it is today.

The unfortunate nation will suffer greatly during the period of transition. Those who enjoyed the powers and privileges under the Peron regime will not peacefully and quietly acquiesce to the change. No doubt the average citizens will pay a severe penalty in restrictions and lack of freedom which will seriously affect their everyday welfare.

Once a dictatorship is established and the people have been regimented under such a dictatorship, there is little likelihood that a democracy with individual freedom can be quickly accomplished.

Too much power in the hands of an individual, a group of individuals, or a class or segment of the population can only react against the welfare of a nation and the citizens as a whole.

The situation in Argentina is similar to what has happened in other nations. Too frequently dictatorships and totatilarian governments come to an end through war such as occurred in Germany and Italy. The free world is indeed sympathetic to the Argentine situation but their present plight should cause freedom loving peoples in all nations to beware of the potential dangers of permitting dictatorships to be established.

AMERICA BY 1975

America by 1975 will be a land in which there will be increased chemical processing of raw materials.

The National Association of Manufacturers cites excerpts from an address by Robert C. Turner, professor of business administration, Indiana University, before the student body of the College of Business Administration of the University of Georgia in discussing the expected developments.

"...A long list of materials, as we now know them, are obsolete and on the way out:

"(a) Cotton and wool, chiefly the latter, to be replaced by synthetic fibers;

"(b) Natural rubber by synthetic rubbers. The tire of the future will not blow out or puncture; and will last the lifetime of the car;

"(c) Raw foods by synthetic organic compounds made possible by the solution of problems of photosynthesis."

White Oak Y's Men To Sell Stew Oct. 15

White Oak Y's Men's Club announced plans for a Brunswick stew, Saturday, October 15. The stew will be cooked and served on the lawn of the former White Oak "Y" building.

Tickets are now on sale and may be obtained from any Y's man. The stew will sell for 75 cents a pint.

Proceeds from this project will go toward the youth activities and other service projects of the club.

Chief cook Cecil Elmore promises the stew will measure up to the quality of the last one. And, if so, you can be assured of a delicious stew at a reasonable price.

Ballroom Dancing Class To Meet Sept. 23

All members of last year's Ballroom Dancing classes are invited to attend the first meeting of this year's class, to be held at the Proximity Y gym, at 7:30 p.m., Friday, September 23.

This year the classes will be conducted by courses, the first course being planned for a ten-weeks period. Other classes will be formed at the end of this time.

"Come to the Y and brush up on the old steps, and learn some new ones. Remember ... you're never too old, or too young, to dance!"

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

A sleeping man at the wheel lets his car wander onto a soft shoulder. A motorist becomes hypnotized by the white line. A drowsy driver nods over the wheel as he approaches a sharp turn.

These results of driver fatigue are frequently responsible for motor vehicle accidents, according to the nation's safety experts. Even a momentary relaxation of vigilance, brought on by physical fatigue, can make you completely lose control of your car.

Driver fatigue can come from so-called hypnosis of the white center line, the glaring heat of the sun on the car's roof and windows, a dirty windshield clouding visibility, or the pressure to arrive at your destination.

You can eliminate your own driver-drowsiness when you take your summer trip by stopping frequently en route. To keep myself alert at the wheel, I have devised what I call a "60 minute formula." It's a simple practice, which I always follow, of stopping the car and relaxing for five minutes every hour. It clears away that drowsy daze.

Driver fatigue is just one of the many causes of traffic accidents. The nation's women are playing an increasingly important role in educating the public to these and other causes and helping to eliminate them.

Women's Bowling Team Is Sponsored

Friday nights at 7:30 p.m., at the Greensboro Bowling Alleys, the newly organized and SPONSORED Cone Ladies' four team League, will bowl a thirty-week schedule.

Sponsors for the league, for whom the bowlers are most grateful, are Benlee's, Edmond's Drug Store, Summit Center Esso Service, and Kool Springs Trailer Park.

Last Friday night, the first matches got underway, with Benlee's taking two from Kool Springs Trailer Park, and Summit Esso winning two out of three from Edmond's Drug Store.

Captains of the teams are: Benlee's, Lois Rierson; Edmond's Drug Store, Minnie Wood; Summit Center Esso Service, Lois Maness; and Kool Springs Trailer Park, Lorraine Amos.

Officers for the League are: Minnie Wood, president, Ann Shipwash, secretary, and Ila Roberts, treasurer.

The public is invited to come on down to the bowling alleys on Friday night and support a favorite team. Matches begin promptly at 7:30, and are bowled on alleys 7, 8, 9, and 10.

Fatal Cases

During the month of July 1955, twelve fatal injuries were reported to the North Carolina Industrial Commission. The causes of these injuries are:

1. Working on bridge, fell in water and drowned.
2. Driving caterpillar, tree turned over on him.
3. Airplane crash.
4. Electrocuted
5. Electrocuted
6. Fell to floor, dead on arrival at hospital.
7. Tree struck him in chest.
8. Burning trash, clothes caught afire, fatal burns.
9. Riding bicycle, struck by car.
10. Driving truck, overturned.
11. Overcome by sewer gas, asphyxiated.
12. Felling timber, tree fell on him.

Previewing N. C. For September, 1955

As a preview of autumn and a "holdover" of summertime, September is one of the finest months of the year to visit North Carolina's mountain and coastal vacationalnds. In the Blue Ridge and Great Smoky Mountains, the first autumn coloring appears at mile-high altitudes; autumn flowers are in full bloom. Coastal resorts remain warm enough for swimming and sun-bathing, while the big autumn run of game fish lures thousands of anglers to sur, pier and Gulf Stream. Across the Piedmont, tobacco markets are open and visitors can hear the famous chant of the tobacco auctioneer at dozens of auction warehouses. September is especially suitable for combining a leisurely tour with pursuit or study of a favorite hobby—whether it's golf, fishing, riding, hiking, handicrafts, gem-hunting, photography or visiting famous attractions. Accommodations are plentiful; all scenic attractions are open.

Picnic and camping areas are open in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, along the Blue Ridge Parkway, in State parks, and in National forests. The new restaurant in the State park atop Mount Mitchell—highest peak in Eastern America—is open until mid-October.

Source of over 300 different kinds of minerals and gemstones, North Carolina is popular with "rockhounds" at any season. September is a favorite month for these hobbyists, who find particularly good hunting in the Spruce Pine area and in the Cowee Valley near Franklin. New this year and open free to visitors is the Museum of North Carolina Minerals on the Blue Ridge Parkway near Spruce Pine.

of the program activities, organized classes, groups, parties that are meeting for the day; selling of towels; handling of funds, making receipts; keeping statistical records; answering all incoming phone calls, giving supervision to the entire building, and making daily inspection of the property and equipment. In addition, the front desk man is the public relations representative at the point of membership records, the handling of the commissary, keeping check on all incoming mail, daily papers, and other periodicals; between 700 and 800 people use the YMCA facilities daily.

Program Office: The Life of the Association revolves around its program and its professional leadership. Gustav Ziprik, membership and business secretary, gives professional leadership to Toastmasters Club, Proximity and White Oak Y's Men's Clubs, Young Men's Phalanx Fraternity and other religious and educational activities of the Association.

Mrs. Frances Funderburk, director of women and girls work, gives professional leadership to the White Oak, Revolution and Proximity Community Clubs, White Oak and Proximity Matrons' Clubs. Entre Nous, Business and Professional Womens' Club. She works with Teen-Age Club, Crafts, Interest Groups with the girls, and also Well Baby Clinic.

Fay Gilbert, director of physical education for men and boys, has a full schedule of physical education and sports, recreational activities in the gymnasium and out of the gymnasium, for junior and intermediate boys, young men, and men, including softball, basketball, volley ball, manly arts, teams, leagues, bowling alleys, billiard tables, and other recreational activities, together with a full program of aquatics including, learn-to-swim, life saving, and water safety.

Miss Maxine Allen, director of physical education for women and girls, works with Teen-Y, Little Women and Teen-Age Clubs, with a physical education program in the gymnasium, and mass recreation for little girls, basketball, soccer ball, together with bowling leagues and other social activities, including an instructional class in ball room and social dancing, Teen-Age folk lore dancing, and other group activities.

Camp Herman Recreation Center: This is one of the most sought after and used phases of the Association work. Mr. Nunn, caretaker, is busy day and night maintaining the Camp Herman Recreation Center, and receiving guests for the various activities, for which they make requests, as well as the kitchen and dining room for dinners, cook-outs, steak and fish fries, homecoming, church picnics, group outings and family dinner parties; the council ring and open fires, for wiener roasts, still remains the most popular camp facilities.

More than 12,000 people have availed themselves of the recreational facilities of Camp Herman, June 1 through Labor Day.

Maintenance: An operation this size requires a maintenance crew of carpenters, plumbers, electricians and engineers to keep the facilities and equipment in top condition. This is all done through Cone Mills Corporation Maintenance Department, and their willingness to keep the facilities and equipment in first class condition is an expression of good will, and their contribution to the employees of Cone Mills and dependent members of their families, having an outdoor Recreation Center and a place where they can enjoy themselves with their friends and associates, after a normal working day or week.

Every employee, and dependent member of his family are invited to join the YMCA in the YMCA membership drive that is now under way, to improve your health through recreation and social activities, daily bathing, swimming, basketball, volley ball, softball religious and education clubs. Dues are men—$3.00 per year; women—$2.00; boy and girls, 6-16 years old come in on a Service Membership without fee.

The Bible Speaks To Your Need

By Rev. W. L. Bennett, Pastor
Sixteenth St. Baptist Church

We hear a lot of preaching about sin in these days! What is sin, you ask? Most folk would answer that sin is drinking, gambling, adultery, murder, profanity and all the sins of the flesh. Yes, such acts are sin and God declares that "they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God." (Gal. 5:19-21) Yet, these are not the worst sins and those guilty of such are not the worst sinners.

The truth is there are two great classes of sins—sins of the body and sins of the disposition.

The Prodigal Son is a type of the first, the Elder Brother of the second (Lk. 15:11-32).

The Prodigal wasted both his money and his life in "riotous living." He seems to have committed every sin in the book. No doubt he drank, gambled, indulged in shameful immorality, until finally he sank to the level of a hog.

The Elder Brother lived a decent and respectable life. He was obedient to his father and a hard worker. He never strayed from home. As far as we know he was never guilty of any immorality.

Now, which of these is the worse sinner, the most hopeless case? Most would say the Prodigal. But is this judgment correct?

Look at these two brothers as Jesus ends His story in Luke 15. One of them is seated at the table. He is wearing a new robe and him. On his finger is a ring signifying membership in the family. There is joy, love and forgiveness in his heart. What has happened to this poor, wretched sinner? He has felt his need, he has come to Jesus where he found forgiveness, restoration and eternal life.

Now, look at the Elder Brother—moral, hard-working, patient, dutiful. With all of his virtues, look at him, this baby, "pouting" outside of his own father's door. Look at his attitude. What is it made of? Jealously, envy, anger, pride, touchiness, cruelty and above all self-righteousness. So he, who was supposed to be on the inside, finds himself on the outside in the darkness, unhappy and bitter.

Are not such sins of the disposition worse to live in, and for others to live with, than sins of the body? Yes, indeed, for Jesus said "the publicans and the harlots go into the Kingdom of Heaven before you." (Mt. 21:31).

Certainly Jesus is not telling us that we should commit the sins of the flesh. But He is showing us that we can shut God out of our hearts by "works," even good works. It is so easy to be self-righteous, to be in the Church, like the Elder Brother, never feeling need of God and never experience Christ's saving power. This is the most dangerous sin.

REVIVAL SPEAKER—Rev. Isaac Terrell, associate pastor of First Baptist Church, Winston-Salem, will conduct the revival at Eller Memorial Baptist Church beginning Sunday, September 25 with Homecoming Day. Goal for Sunday School attendance Sunday is 547 and 150 for the Training Union. A goal of $1,000 has been set for the building fund collections Sunday. Rev. Mr. Terrell will preach every evening at 7:30 and will be here through the service Sunday, October 2. Wakelon Morrison will lead the music.

LOCAL CITIZENS TELL

church-life. He pointed out that the work of the YMCA is not an overnight proposition but a day-to-day building of character and physical strength which has to be lived.

Mr. Kincaid, a member of the Y board, discussed the soundness of the Y's principles and practices, referring to the fact that the organization in America is 104 years old. He admonished the campaign workers to "Have a mind to work" and to accomplish results in the present campaign by "overcoming every obstacle."

Mr. Hayes, chairman of the boys and girls committee, reminded the workers that character is built by patience, hard work and prayers, things that do not gain a headline. He advised the campaign volunteers that if they approach an adult who is not interested in a membership for himself to ask him to buy one for the "boy who did not burn down the schoolhouse."

Mr. Jenkins, a member of the Proximity Y's Men's Club, paid tribute to the YMCA in expressing his experience with the local club. He pointed out that the Y's Men's Club member has a horizon that is worldwide and that he acknowledges duty with every right. He referred to such objectives as good fellowship, keeping better informed, supporting deserving social movements.

Mr. Leonard recognized Norma Pinkelton and Miss Maxine Allen as members of the publicity committee.

Moir Ayers, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ayers, sang three selections.

Mr. Elmore, who is chairman of this year's drive, stated that the recent changes in the YMCA set-up; namely, combining both branches at Proximity, would not affect the membership nor the program offered.

He introduced the majors: Mr. Leonard, Frank Starling, Leonard Linker, Will Marshburn, Jack Phillips, Hobart Souther, Gordie Boyd, and Mr. Jenkins.

The chairman also thanked Mrs. Frances Funderburk and her women's club group for their house-to-house canvas plans.

Carrying a considerable portion of it around on his shoulders, the American taxpayer doesn't think it's such a small world.
